To Give $215,000 for $45,000.

Two hundred thousand dollars in cash for an endowment fund and $15,000 toward its present debt have been offered to the Maine State Sanatorium at Hebron, Me., by a gentleman who is not a resident of Maine, on condition that the friends of the institution in Maine and elsewhere will pay the balance of the debt of the institution, $45,000 before March 1st.

Up to Feb. 21st all but $8,000 of this $45,000 had been pledged, in sums ranging from $1,000 to $1 and the $8,000 must be raised within about 20 days or this magnificent gift to a public institution in Maine will be lost.

The committee having this matter in charge has canvassed the State by letter and by circular as far as has been possible for them to do up to this time and they are now appealing to the people of Maine to come to the rescue.

The Maine State Sanatorium was incorporated in 1900. Since the opening of the sanatorium up to Nov., 1909, 399 patients have been treated therein. In 92 per cent. of these cases, the disease has been arrested or in other words cured so far as can be determined by the best medical examination. In a large percentage of additional cases, the case was so nearly cured when the patient was discharged, that the patients have completed the cure after their discharge from the institution so that it is conservatively to be said that fully 60 per cent. of the patients suffering from this hitherto "incurable" disease have gone out from this institution to be restored to lines of usefulness.

Aside from this 60 per cent. yet another large per cent. have been so far proved that they have in large measure resumed the old activities in life.
The public is thus concerned in this great work not only from a philanthropic but also from a business standpoint for each life restored to the community has a practical bearing on the welfare of the State and nation.

The institution is of State-wide benefit. Every county in Maine has had patients in the Hebron Sanatorium. There is no distinction as to location. Aroostook has had as nearly many patients there as has any other county. It is located. Every county in Maine is represented among the 60 patients' now in the sanatorium.

The committee feels that there is no need to urge the cause of the anti-tuberculosis campaign. They hope that the people of Maine will rally to this cause and contribute this $80,000 in order to secure the magnificent contribution of $215,000 by this out-of-the-State friend of the sanatorium to its debt and to its endowment.

If this sum is raised, the debt cleared off and this $200,000 from the endowment is secured by gift, the Hebron Sanatorium will be in condition to devote the interest of this fund more largely to the help of patients who are unable in whole or in part to pay the cost of maintenance at the sanatorium; will be able to enlarge its scope; to handle more patients and thus to advance the cause of humanity and philanthropy.

The committee therefore appeals to the people to help.
Send your checks or your cash in any sum large or small to the Portland Trust Company, Portland, Maine.

If the entire sum of $45,000 is not secured by the time of the next meeting of the Portland Trust Company, Be prompt in your giving; for it is desirable to close the lists as soon as possible.
The committee urges each person who reads this to remember that his gift, large or small, may be instrumental in securing this great endowment to an institution that is a blessing to humanity.
Will you not assist?

Maine Schools.

Their Superintendence Through the Union of Towns.

A pamphlet has just been issued from the office of the State superintendent of public schools on the subject of "Superintendence of Maine Schools Through the Union of Towns," which is now ready for distribution and should prove a valuable publication in school circles.
The pamphlet makes a publication of 14 pages and opens with an extract from the school laws of Maine, it being Sections 40-45 of Chapter 15 of the Revised Statutes as amended. The provisions of the law are summarized as follows:

1. The State pays two-thirds of the salary of the superintendent to the limit of $800 annually on the part of the State.

2. The union may include not less than twenty, nor more than fifty schools. Any city or town having more than fifty schools may receive the benefits of the law without joining with other towns.

3. The time given by the superintendent to each town is to be determined by the proportionate part of the salary paid by each.

4. The superintendent of a union must hold a State certificate of superintendence grade.

5. The duties of the superintendent are the same for each town as in the case of the local superintendent.

6. A vote taken by a town to form a union holds for three years, except that a union may be dissolved within that time by a two-thirds vote of the joint committee.

7. Each town is required to raise only the amount of its own share in the superintendent's salary.

8. While the union formed under Section 40 is not continued for three years after its first formation, unless dissolved by the joint committee, as provided in Section 43, it should be understood that the superintendent may be elected annually and changed annually if the joint committee deem a change advisable.

9. There is no restriction as to the number of towns. The only requirement is with regard to the number of schools.

10. There is no restriction as to relative location of towns forming a union.
They may be in the same or different counties and may be contiguous or not.

11. The formation of a union must be authorized by a vote of the several towns uniting. This vote may be taken at the regular town meeting, or at a special meeting called for that purpose.

12. The secretary of the joint committee, upon the formation of a union, must certify to the treasurers of the several towns uniting and to the State superintendent, as required in Section 41.

The Cause of Colds.

Good Advice Regarding the Prevention of Coughs and Colds.

If people would only fortify and strengthen the system, the majority of cases of coughs, colds and pneumonia might be avoided. These troubles are frequently due to weakness, which produces a catarrhal condition of the mucous membrane, which is an internal skin of the body. When this skin is weakened it becomes easily infected with germs which cause many of the diseases to which flesh is heir. Healthy mucous membranes are essential safeguards of the body's general health.

An excellent aid in the prevention of coughs, colds, pneumonia, and such like infectious diseases, is a remedy that will prevent or cure such.

We have a remedy which we honestly believe to be unsurpassed in excellence for the prevention of coughs, colds and all catarrhal conditions. It is the prescription of a famous physician, who has an enviable reputation of thirty years of cures gained through the use of this formula. We promise to make no charge for the medicine should it fail to do as we claim. We urge everybody who has need of such a "medicine" to try Rexall Muc-Tone.

It stands to reason that we could not afford to make such statements and give our own personal guarantee to prove ourselves if we were not prepared to prove the reasonableness of our claim in every particular, and we see no reason why any one should hesitate to accept our offer and try it. We have two sizes of Rexall Muc-Tone, prices 50 cents and $1.00. Sometimes a 50-cent bottle is sufficient to give marked relief. As a general try the most chronic case is relieved with an average of three large bottles. You can obtain Rexall Remedies in Norway only at our store, The Rexall Store, E. P. Stone, Main street, Norway, Me.

Mrs. Caroline Gibson McMillan.
The many friends of Mrs. Caroline Gibson McMillan, who formerly resided here, will be grieved to learn of her death, which occurred at the family residence, 1728 Nicollet Avenue, Minneapolis, Minn., at 9:15 a.m. on Tuesday, Feb. 1. Her illness, which was of 19 days duration, began with functional heart trouble, but bronchial pneumonia soon developed, and this latter ailment was the immediate cause of her decease.
Mrs. McMillan was born in the adjoining town of Brownfield, and at the time of her death was in the 87th year of her age, having been born on December 20, 1822. She was the fourth child of Captain Abel and Anna Howard Gibson. She married James Osgood McMillan in 1847 and lived in Fryeburg till the spring of 1880, when she removed to Minneapolis, where she thenceforth made her home till her death.

The nearest surviving relatives are her brother, former United States Senator, Paris Gibson of Great Falls, Mont.; three daughters, Mrs. Helen M. Wiley of Orange, N. J., and Edith and Caroline E. McMillan of Minneapolis, and three grandsons, Carl McMillan Wiley of Minneapolis, James McMillan Wiley and Thomas A. Wiley of Orange, N. J. Her only son, James McMillan, died in March, 1909.

Mrs. McMillan was a most estimable lady and a large circle of friends will be saddened at learning of her death. She was warm-hearted and generous, and all who served in any capacity or were in any way brought into contact with her became attached to her as a dear friend. Even dumb animals were within the sphere of her sympathetic kindness, and to feed the birds was one of her favorite delights during the winter months of the year.

The funeral, which was held at the late home of the deceased at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon of Thursday, Feb. 3, was very simple but was attended by many sorrowing friends. There was a profusion of flowers and a choir rendered the hymns, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," "Nearer My God to Thee," and "There is a Land of Pure Delight," the latter being a hymn which had been an especial favorite of Mrs. McMillan's and which she had joined in repeating during her last illness.

Interment was in Lakewood cemetery, Minneapolis. It had long been Mrs. McMillan's desire to be buried here at Fryeburg beside her husband, but, after the death of her son, she acquiesced in the wishes of her remaining children that her body should be laid beside that of her son in Lakewood cemetery.

About the "Telephone Hog."

Complaint of a Farmer Who Does Not Like "Phone Visiting."

A farmer living in a nearby town gives the Times a truthful interview on a telephone annoyance that applies to the city as well as to the country districts. He says:

"I voice a grievance of a long-suffering community of subscribers that are scattered throughout the country districts, and ask the telephone company if it can do anything to stop this kind of thing. While the fact is recognized that one subscriber has the same rights as another in the use of the phone for business purposes, it's quite another thing when it is used for visiting purposes by women that will keep possession of the wire for a half hour or more, while they talk social gossip, or a lovesick boy and girl that talk their love nonsense over the wire, that is heard by every listener (and there are many in the country)."

"I recently had the following experience, and it is only one of many. I took down the receiver and heard a voice that I recognized and another lady visiting, I hung up and waited five minutes and tried again. This I repeated for over a half hour, varying from five minutes to ten. The same two were visiting. I was in a great hurry that day and I felt some righteous indignation, so I rattled the lever or what one said: 'I suppose we better hang up, for someone seems to want the wire.'"

"Another time I wanted a doctor, for there was sickness in the house. A man and a girl were visiting. The case was urgent, and I waited for ten minutes I asked them if they would not stop long enough for me to call the doctor. The man's voice gruffly told me that he had a right to it, as long as he pleased. I told him a few plain things and he finally hung up and I got the doctor."

"This happens every day to someone; and it is an abuse of the telephone privilege. A doctor in one of the principal hospitals of Hartford told me the same experience, when he tried to call up parties in this vicinity. He had to wait a long time while two women visited."

"Now, as a rule, ten minutes is long enough for a wife; usually five minutes is the average. And the company should, as a matter of justice to all of the country subscribers, limit all talks not over ten minutes on club telephones in the country districts."

"The company limits a long distance call to three or five minutes, no matter what price you have to pay, whether one or five dollars. They have the right and we have the right to such calls. And they have the right and certainly should set a limit to club phone use as a matter of fairness and right to all. To be sure we don't pay as much for a club phone as for a single or private wire, but that is no reason why, when we have urgent business, or want to call a doctor or a long distance—I repeat, it is no reason why we should be made to wait over ten minutes for someone to visit over the wire."

"While a few minutes' limit may not suit the 'telephone hog,' it certainly would be fair to many others that have to suffer the loss of their time and patience by their selfishness. It is hoped that the telephone company will see it in this light as a matter of justice."

Attention Sick Women

If you had positive proof that a certain remedy for female ills had made many remarkable cures, would you not feel like trying it?

If during the last thirty years we have not succeeded in convincing every fair-minded woman that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured thousands and thousands of women of the ills peculiar to their sex, then we long for an opportunity to do so by direct correspondence. Meanwhile read the following letters which we guarantee to be genuine and truthful.

Hudson, Ohio.—"I suffered for a long time from a weakness, inflammation, dreadful pains each month and suppression. I had been doctoring and receiving only temporary relief, when a friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so, and wrote to you for advice. I have faithfully followed your directions and now, after taking only five bottles of the Vegetable Compound, I have every reason to believe I am a well woman. I give you full permission to use my testimonial."

Mrs. Lena Carmocino, Hudson, Ohio, R. F. D. No. 7.

St. Regis Falls, N. Y.—"Two years ago I was so bad that I had to take to my bed every month, and it would last from two to three weeks. I wrote to you for advice and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in dry form. I am happy to say that I am cured, thanks to your medicine and good advice. You may use my letter for the good of others."

Mrs. J. H. Breyere, St. Regis Falls, N. Y.

There is absolutely no doubt about the ability of this grand old remedy, made from the roots and herbs of our fields, to cure female diseases. We possess volumes of proof of this fact, enough to convince the most skeptical.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

A Housewife's Extravagance.

It Brings Her Husband to Brink of Grovel and Bankruptcy.

"Henrietta," said Mr. Pembroke as he sat down to breakfast, "you've got to cut down our living expenses. We can't afford it. Here you have bacon and eggs both very expensive luxuries—to say nothing of real cream in the coffee and maple syrup for the pancakes."

"Well, dear, we can't live on air," Mrs. Pembroke replied.

"I know we can't live on air, but we can live on much less expensive things than you've heaped on the table here this morning. I told you I was to attend the luncheon which is to be given today in honor of Mr. Sniggles, who has just been appointed consul at Stuttgart, didn't I. That will cost me $3. And tonight I'm to go to the banquet of the Herkimer County Society, which is to cost $6 a plate. I could have worried along very well without any breakfast at all. You ought to think about these things."

"I do think of them, but the children are growing and they must have wholesome food. Do you expect to attend a banquet or anything tomorrow?"

"Yes, The Mohawk Marching Club has its annual dinner tomorrow night. That will cost me $4 more. You simply must cut down somehow. And in the following evening there is to be the installation of the newly elected officers of the Cy Yips. That will take another five-spot. How do you suppose I'm going to be able to stand it if you keep on spending money for stuff to eat here at home the way you do? Cut down, for heaven's sake. Don't mind me. I can get along with a little inexpensive grub. I should think you'd exercise some judgment."

What are you doing for your town? Do you grumble or extol? Are you pushing it forward or are you pulling the other way? You certainly are among the first to progress if you overlook a chance to spread its virtues or spend elsewhere the money which might add to the volume of local business. Often a town's bitterest critics are those that do the least for it. It doesn't matter much where you live if you look sharp you can find something in which it excels all other places. If you are a loyal citizen that's the thing you will talk about. The best way to build up your town is to "talk it up," the best way to destroy it is to "talk it down."

O. N. Bowker, of South Paris, who died very suddenly recently, once owned the tract of land in that town where the townsmen have been found. Had he realized the value of his property he might have been a millionaire.

A Story of Why He Once Stopped Off a Train.

"Doctor," said the President, adressing a venerable looking gentleman who was present as an invited guest,

"may I venture to ask you to relate some of the more personal experience that may be put to a period when you were a younger and possibly less learned man than you are tonight?"

"Mr. President," replied the aged visitor, "if the late lamented Dr. Blank could be with us, it would be unces-sary to call upon so vastly inferior a story-teller. Now that you have made the request, however, I will endeavor to recall a trivial but truly memorable appearing in the year 1850, before either he or myself had attained our majority and many years prior to our college degree of LL. D. I have heard the doctor repeat the story many times in his inimitable manner, and I am very sensible of my own inability to do it justice.

"The doctor and myself—yet in embryo, it was—accompanied by another Yale student, were one day in the city of New Haven. We were to take the north-bound train, which was due not far from the hour of noon. As the railroad station at that time was practically a subterranean one, located in the bed of an old time canal, we decided to wait for our train at a very comfortable cafe, just across the street from the depot stairway.

"The South-bound train arrived earlier, and there was a stop of some 20 minutes for refreshment. Several of the passengers came straight over to the place where we were seated to purchase cigars and beverages. During the brief interval a gentleman of distinguished appearance, who looked to be well-nigh 70 years of age, entered the cafe. He was truly a remarkable looking man, and his face somehow seemed to me vaguely familiar. He walked up to the counter in a stately manner, and thus addressed the white-aproned attendant:

"Sir, have you just arrived from the train which is en route to New York city, and desire to obtain some brandy which is a thoroughly fine article. An unknown friend in the car who appears to be somewhat acquainted in this city, and who kindly directed me to this place of business, advised me to ask for some of the contents of the 'black bottle under the bar.' Can I be accommodated sir?"

"It will be a great pleasure to wait on you, sir," replied the attendant, and
